

Western Australian

DIRECTORY 2009

Western Australian classic car owners and enthusiasts have a better range of expert businesses, services and suppliers than you might think, with plenty of experience to look after your car, prepare vehicles for competition or give resto projects a boost. But not all are located in metro areas, so it's worth finding out what is available and where before travelling long distances. Some businesses are generalists with diverse staff who can save you searching for help on every detail, while others have the specialised knowledge your particular vehicle requires. Read through the listings here to find the services, products and advice you need.
